When making a straight bet, the team the player bets must cover the pointspread

Football Betting Example
TIME BET TEAM LINE TOTAL MONEY
1:00 PM 101 WASHINGTON
42 +140 102 PHILADELPHIA -3 -160

The pointspread on the electronic display boards and wagering sheets is always listed next to the favorite.

All money lines are based on $100.

A $100 bet on Washington would win $140 for a payback of $240 if Washington wins the game.

In "off-the-board" parlays, the player may parlay from 2 to 10 teams. In the event of a wagering tie or "push" with the pointspread or total

, the parlay is reduced to the next lowest number of teams; for example a 4-team parlay with one tie would become a 3-team parlay, etc.

A two-team parlay with one tie becomes a straight bet.

PARLAY CARDS

After all, the teams may not be very equal in talent level, and that will be evident in the moneyline.

The point spread lets bettors take favorites without the huge moneyline risk or underdogs without having huge odds to overcome for their payout.

5 (-110) requires an Eagles win of seven points or more.

It's another simple wager and one that's extremely popular on Sundays.
