Because of this, counting cards is less useful across rounds, but it still makes sense to observe face up cards during the same round, especially if only one deck is used.

Aces are worth 1 or 11, depending on which helps the player more. How to Play
After the initial two cards are dealt, players have two default options to choose from: They can either 'hit' (request an additional card) or they can 'stand' (keep their current hand).

If their hand exceeds 21, they automatically lose their bet.
After every player decides what they are going to do, the dealer flips over their face down card and draws more cards until the dealer hits 17 or higher, after which the dealer's score is tallied with all the players. Scoring

If a player's cards are a pair, they can split them and make the cards into individual bets.

After the initial two cards are dealt, if a player believes they will lose, they can surrender, or bow out of the game, and only lose half of their original bet
